

Talkies

You know where he works, where he is from and what schools his kids attend. But the hostess is showing no signs of rescuing you and you can sense the conversation is about to run dry. Do you run to the bathroom? Head to the drinks table? Try to hail another nearby guest to rescue you? Why not try something a bit different? The Art of Literary Conversation is a deck of cards with conversation starters for book lovers. Here are a couple to get you going:

85. What is your policy on lending books?

136. Have you ever attended a book signing or do you own an autographed book?

29. Do you prefer a biography to be written thematically or in chronological order?

172. What is the best sequel you have ever read?

www.taoc.com.au